SHEET RUBBER

CHUTEX RUBBER

Chutex rubber is a premium wear-resistant natural rubber designed for demanding industrial and protection applications. It is soft, highly elastic and abrasion-resistant, making it ideal where flexibility, tear resistance and durability are required. Chutex offers excellent resistance to sliding abrasion in both wet and dry conditions, and good mechanical strength for long-lasting service in harsh environments.

Chutex is commonly used for linings, protective skirts, wear curtains, gaskets, seals and abrasion barriers in transport, processing and equipment protection applications. Its combination of flexibility, cut and tear resistance makes it suitable for high-use surfaces and robust sealing or wear protection requirements.
